

Given below is a sample BOF/Poster description for the online program. We'd appreciate your replacing your original .pdf submission with this form and resubmit to the database. We're planning to put the program up after Dec. 4, so you'll need to get your description up by then.

Title of SIGCSE 2007 BOF or Poster

Your name, university or other affiliation

co-presenter name, affiliation

Put your at most 100 word description for this Bof/poster here. For example if this is a BOF you may discuss a lot about privacy in databases. Participants will discuss lots of things (lecture notes, in-class and homework exercises, test questions). Privacy issues at each stage of the database design process are discussed. The above sentences are not intended to make a lot of sense--just putting together a sample for you. Remember that the description should be at most 100 words and that it should describe your BOF/Poster in a way that makes potential participants decide that they absolutely have to attend.

Specifications:

Title and presenters' information should be indented 1/2 inch. The title is in 10 point Times New Roman boldface and the presenters' info has the affiliation italicized.

The body of the abstract should not be indented.
